Dwifitra Jumas, Faizul Azli Mohd Rahim, Vivi Ariani, Arif Nurman Florisa:

We have reached a decision regarding your submission to Journal of Design and Built Environment, "Obtaining Professional Skills in the Public Construction Procurement System: A Challenge from the Viewpoint of Indonesian Government Worker".

Your manuscript has been reviewed and we invite you to revise and resubmit the manuscript along the lines suggested for further consideration in JDBE. The reviewer's comments are as attached in system. Please submit your revision by 26th April 2023 in soft copy in Microsoft Word.

Our decision is: Revisions Required

We have checked similarity and found a high percentage similarity index. Please make sure that the similarity index of your revised manuscript is less than 20%.

A response letter to the reviewers comments must be provided together with the revised manuscript.

Kindly make a note/mark if any changes have been made in paper.

Thank you and we look forward to receiving your revised manuscript. Please acknowledge receipt of this email.

comments or suggestions to author:

The research work have been done according to the selected methodology and shows the researcher's ability to use the statistical analysis tools. What is missing from the paper is probably when we ask the questions 'what now' and 'what's next'. The paper describes the statistical conclusions but the author's commentary to link those statistical conclusions with the challenge of getting ASN participation will further strengthen the paper as a piece of work that needed to be read by higher level decision makers, so that they could start to act on the issue presented.

RESPONSE LETTER

Title:

Obtaining Professional Skills in the Public Construction Procurement System: A Challenge from the Viewpoint of Indonesian Government Worker

Comments/ suggestions from Reviewer	Author responses
Make sure that the similarity index of your revised manuscript is less than 20%	We appreciate the time and efforts by the associate editor, editor chief and reviewers in reviewing this manuscript. We have addressed all issues indicated in the review report, and believed that the revised version can meet the journal requirements. The authors have paraphrased several sentences to get the turnitin yield to be 19% from the initial 22%
Make a note/mark if any changes have been made in paper	We have made a mark for any changes using Track Changes in Microsoft Word
What is missing from the paper is probably when we ask the questions 'what now' and 'what's next'. The paper describes the statistical conclusions but the author's commentary to link those statistical conclusions with the challenge of getting ASN participation will further strengthen the paper as a piece of work that needed to be read by higher level decision makers, so that they could start to act on the issue presented.	In this concern, the two paragraphs in section 5.1 Conclusion, the author has added a sentence that emphasize the description of the current condition 'what now', namely “This study provides an overview of the lack of ASN interest to occupy procurement functional positions in the West Sumatra Province.....” Furthermore in paragraph 2, the author has also added that “The findings of this study can be used as a reference for stakeholders engaged in government project procurement to find out the inhibiting aspects that need more serious attention”. And also provide some suggestions, namely "This research suggests that stakeholders in preparing procurement guidelines standards should accommodate various needs, conditions, and diverse regional capabilities in carrying out a good procurement process"
