

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

This research produced a total of 60 language style data on Joss's theory from the Netflix series Forrest Gump, the writer found 1 frozen style data, 13 formal style data, 14 consultative style data, 17 casual style data, and 15 intimate style data. After classifying the language styles, the writer discusses the social factors that influence the characters in the film Forrest Gump through the use of certain language styles. The writer tries to make this relationship using the theory of Joos and Holmes. The writer conclude that each type of language style has differences in participants, settings, topics, and functions. In addition, these aspects cannot be separated to understand the language style used by each character in each of their speeches.

5.2 Suggestion

This study analyzes the use of Joes linguistic style theory in the Netflix series Forrest Gump and the social factors that influence it. For further research, if readers or future researchers want to deepen their understanding of language styles and their use, readers can also analyze language styles in other films and film series, as well as evaluate the application and effectiveness of Joos' theory in various language genres, media arts, literature, can also analyze social factors in the use of language styles and understand culture in films which will be studied next. The moral values associated with the target audience and fans of a film or series can provide valuable insight into the importance of language style in a cinematic context and are also constructive and interesting in the film to study.
