ABSTRACT

This study examines the effect of profitability, firm size, company age, leverage, and reputation of the public accounting firm. The population of this study is all manufacturing companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange (IDX) from 2015 to 2018. The sample was selected based on the purposive sampling method, so that the sample companies were 66 manufacturing companies. The data used is secondary data derived from the financial statements of manufacturing companies on the official website of the Indonesia Stock Exchange (IDX), namely www.idx.co.id. In this study, there are four hypotheses. The results prove that (1) profitability has no effect on audit delay, (2) company size has an effect on audit delay, (3) company age has no effect on audit delay, (4) leverage has no effect on audit delay, (5) the reputation of KAP does not able to moderate the effect of profitability on audit delay. (6) Reputation of Public Accountant Firm (KAP) moderates Company Size on Audit Delay. (7) The reputation of the Public Accounting Firm (KAP) moderates the Company's Age towards Audit Delay. (8) The reputation of the Public Accounting Firm (KAP) does not moderate the Leverage against the Audit Delay.

Keywords: profitability, company size, company age, leverage, and audit delay.
